I completed Advanced Functions and am now in Calculus. I would say that if you are not good with algebra,exponent laws, or radicals, Calculus may be harder for you, as it's mostly reducing and simplifying equations to find certain pieces of information and not necessarily the "x". So far, Calculus has been easier for me than Advanced Functions.

Is calculus harder or easier than advanced functions? - uThink

I took both advanced functions and calculus and vectors last year. I had never had the highest math marks because I really did not study, but wanted to change that in grade 12. I got a tutor for the whole year, I finished with a 94% in advanced functions and a 98% in calculus and vectors. I studied my butt off!
